Are kidding ??? your going to ask microsoft to give software and hardware to american schools, cause they of their monopol... is'nt that just a way to give them a little bit more power over the next generation of student ? Is'nt Microsoft behind that ? They want to look good so they're gonna give, cause de DOJ will ask them to do so ... but that just giving them more and more power. They should give money to the education, to the university, a university that will work on another os than windows, a university that work to help the community, Linux. But you are on their side you are not for justice, cause your american, and in the american way there is no place for the community, just for the one that can give you money
